

"Once blind, but now I see"

by Francis MacNutt

I want to share with you a problem I have been struggling with for a long time and if you are a reflective Christian, you are probably working on it, too: how can it be that people who claim to be Christians can seem to be so very wrong in some of their moral choices?

They say they are "born again" and they can date the time it all happened. Furthermore, they testify to the extraordinary changes that took place at that time. I believe them, but in some particular areas of their lives, they seem oblivious to what true Christianity is all about. Reflecting on my own life and looking back, I can see areas where I simply was not aware of major elements of Christian life, even though I was ordained and serious about living a Christian life. For example, it was not until 1966 that I became aware of the importance of the baptism of the Spirit and of healing prayer. As I see it now, these are two major areas where Christians need to come alive in order for Christianity to be fully restored.

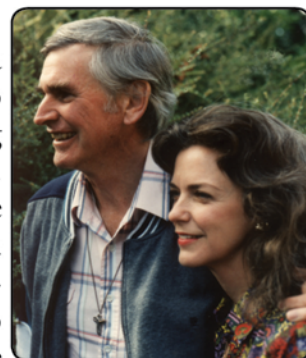

What I now believe is that Christians can encounter Jesus and his salvation in such a way that a part of their humanity is scarcely touched. At first, this may sound odd: after all, isn't all of me one human being with one spirit, one soul?

Where I first dramatically encountered this partial saving encounter with God was in trying to help those who had "multiple personalities" (DID, or Dissociative Identity Disorder). In those days a counselor worked with CHM who had extensive experience in working with survivors of satanic ritual abuse. Whenever a personality would emerge who had not yet made a Christian commitment, she would ask that personality to make a full commitment to Jesus and would then ask me to baptize that particular personality, who could then be integrated into the entire personality. This pastoral question had never presented itself in my excellent seminary training: we only baptized people once. However, I wasn't being asked to baptize the same person twice; it was a part of the personality that had never been baptized!

This, in turn, made sense in terms of what the sociologist Will Herberg had claimed in his book, Protestant, Catholic and Jew.¹ His startling observation was that although Protestants, Catholics and Jews all thought that their beliefs were very different, their basic belief was really the same: their real belief, as shown in their words and actions, was really the American Dream. Christians really believed in success, in fame and accumulating wealth. Part of them had not been reached by Christ's teaching and example.

I have come to the conclusion that the Spirit's great work in each one of us — after our initial conversion and

This is what has ruined everything, your thinking that this reading of Scripture is for monks only, when you need it more than they do. Those who are placed in the world and who receive wounds everyday have the most need of medicine. So, far worse than not reading the Scriptures is the idea that they are superfluous.

News from Baker Publishing Group

after our baptism in the Spirit — is to enlighten our minds until we can see the full picture of what Jesus taught. He even taught his disciples, at the Last Supper, that there were some teachings they were still not yet ready to understand (John 16:12-13).

Until our eyes are fully opened, our supposedly Christian views are likely to be contaminated by the belief system of the culture in which we grow up. How else can we explain why so many Germans — mainly Catholic and Lutheran — bought into the Nazi beliefs? How else can we account for churches that believe that Scripture is inspired by God and yet, with calm assurance accept the view of the 18th Century “Enlightenment” that miracles are no longer possible? How do we arrive at a time when a reputable theologian like William Barclay can state that belief in the demonic is “superstition”?

When we realize that it’s very possible that one can be a basically good Christian, but still be spiritually blind in major areas of their Christian beliefs, it should make us more forgiving and understanding — less judgmental than when we were younger. As the French proverb says, “If you are not a revolutionary when you are twenty, you have no heart. If you are still a revolutionary when you are forty, you have no head!”

Just to give a notable example of spiritual blindness, take John Newton, who wrote the words of that great hymn “Amazing Grace,” famous for its honest claim, “I once was blind but now I see.” When he was little more than a boy, he shipped off to sea as a sailor where he picked up dissolute habits of violence, sex and drinking, for which he later was ashamed. He was a born leader, so he rose quickly in his twenties to become the captain of a slave ship that picked up slaves in Africa and transported them to the British colonies in the New World. Then, one night, a monstrous storm rose up that nearly capsized his ship. Lashed to the mast, he was so terrified that he cried out to God to save him. He repented for his debauched life and surrendered his life to God as best he could. He truly was converted and cleaned up his life as best he knew how, yet, surprisingly to us, he saw nothing at all wrong in continuing to bring slaves to work the British plantations in their colonies. For five years he continued as a slaver, only now he would calmly study Scripture and pray in his captain’s quarters while hundreds of slaves were suffering below decks, shackled to crowded bunks where many of them died and were thrown overboard in the mid-Atlantic.

Amazingly, Newton’s conscience was not touched in this area until he heard John Wesley speak about slavery, which opened his eyes to what he had been doing. He really followed through on his repentance and became a major figure in changing British public opinion, until England finally abolished the slave trade. Opposition was so strong (the profit motive) that it took 50 years before the British finally gave up the slave trade, which was many years before the United States abandoned slavery during the Civil War.

You can read story after story like this in Christianity’s history² — of people being converted, but only in part. I believe that only when the Spirit comes fully upon us will we become free in every main area of our lives to finally see and embrace the totality of the glorious vision that Christ has gifted to us in order to become a “new creation” (2 Cor. 5:17).

Francis

Testimony of Healing Received by CHM Intercessors

by Anne Early Intercessory Prayer Coordi-

Last July a CHM intercessor, Mac, sent an urgent prayer request — “a very special one” — on behalf of his beloved wife Dianne. Dianne was having emergency exploratory surgery expecting removal of a damaged appendix, but ended up having surgery to remove a malignant mass from her abdomen. Following the surgery, Mac told us Dianne had been diagnosed with metastatic breast cancer, apparently a return of her breast cancer of 10 years ago. The doctors removed her right side colon with two tumors, but because of the emergency nature of the surgery, they had to leave two masses on her pelvis. A later scan of her body revealed multiple tumors, all malignant in her abdominal cavity.

Dianne recovered well from the surgery, but she and Mac were praying against a frightening situation: one golf ball size tumor on her right lung as well as the multiple tumors in the abdominal cavity and the remaining masses on her pelvis, plus medical uncertainty with regard to the origination point of the cancer. The doctors were not optimistic, telling them this one was in God’s hands. Mac and Dianne asked for more prayer for healing and medical discernment as Dianne underwent chemotherapy, and CHM intercessors continued praying.

The week before Thanksgiving, Mac called, so excited he could hardly get the words out: “Dianne’s tumors are all gone — all the tumors — multiple tumors! — have just disappeared!” Dianne then joined in the conversation, praising God with Mac and expressing much appreciation for all the prayer support. She still has a small spot on her intestinal area that may or may not be malignant, so more testing is to be done there and continuing prayer is requested.

Since Mac’s attending School of Healing Prayer I, II and III at CHM, and attending Emerging Leaders in Healing Conferences with Dianne, both have been very actively involved in healing prayer ministry in San Diego, California.

MacNutt is communicating a desperately needed and passionate prophetic call.

The Rev. Jack W. Hayford, President, Foursquare Church International.

An engaging, conversational glimpse — through interviews with family, friends and professional colleagues — of the remarkable life and ministry of Francis MacNutt

Francis is a native of St. Louis, Missouri. His education in pre-med was interrupted when he was called to serve in World War II as an army surgical technician. He later graduated from Harvard University, then earned a master's degree from Catholic University of America. After joining the Dominican Order, he earned a Ph.D. in theology and, in 1956, was ordained a priest. Francis' life and ministry took an extraordinary turn in 1967, when he was baptized with the Holy Spirit and began to realize the magnitude of God's transforming, healing power.

Francis' passion for the healing ministry has continued for four decades and has re-kindled faith for healing among countless Christians. The work he began as a Roman Catholic priest, leading healing teams and addressing large gatherings in over 30 countries on five continents, has continued with unflagging zeal.

After meeting in Jerusalem, Francis married Judith Sewell in 1980, and together they founded Christian Healing Ministries in Clearwater, Florida. This international ministry, now located in Jacksonville, Florida, models a balanced, biblical approach to healing prayer.

In 1974, Francis wrote Healing (considered a classic on healing prayer), which has sold almost a million copies in the United States alone. He has also written six other books on healing—the most recent—The Healing Reawakening. He and Judith co-authored Praying for your Unborn Child. His books are sold world-wide and have been translated into sixteen languages.

See What He Has Done

Compiled by Anne Early, Intercessory Prayer Coordinator.

Testimonies from Attendees of Emerging Leaders in Healing Conference, Denver:

- ◆ “I received complete emotional healing from Judith’s prayers and a complete physical healing from Francis’ touch. Thank you, thank you!”
- ◆ “I went home from the conference yesterday and practiced what I had learned. I asked my daughter if I could pray for her. She was exhausted, having been unable to sleep for four days. I told her Jesus was with us. I laid hands on her and asked the Holy Spirit to come. Not only did she sleep that night, she was visited in a dream and assured of healing.”
- ◆ “I received inner healing as I was able to get in touch with deeply buried anger. I went home in the confidence of truly knowing how to pray and leave my burdens at the foot of the cross, co-dependent no more. Praise you, Jesus!”
- ◆ “When I received prayer I debated between asking for healing of hearing (tinnitus) and healing of arthritis. I chose hearing; but when the prayer ministers laid hands on my ears and prayed, nothing changed. Later, I suddenly realized that all the arthritis pain was gone: no pain in my neck and upper spine, no pain in my shoulders, no pain in my hips (even in the one with a bone spur that had been diagnosed as qualifying me as a candidate for hip replacement), and no pain in my knees. I did a deep-knee bend with almost no discomfort!”
- ◆ “When I went forward to the prayer team, I shared that there must be a deeper issue with which I was not yet in touch. They prayed, and the Lord brought to my mind an incident that occurred when I was three years old. I found it amazing that with all the counseling, inner healing and deliverance I have had, not once had that issue (shared at most of the counseling sessions) been considered as a cause for real pain. I am very grateful for the prayers and healing I have received at this conference, and look forward to experiencing freedom from the shame and guilt that has plagued me so long. (I have been in counseling for over 30 years and have spent thousands of dollars trying to find freedom from depression.) I am amazed that the Lord would so quickly help me find the original memory that had to have been related to some very deep pain in my life. Thank you for coming to Denver.”
- ◆ “We came here as a family (3 members). We have traveled all over the world together, and all have agreed that this is by far the best thing we have ever done. We have had healings we did not expect. We have had the experience of a powerful God and have learned to welcome the Holy Spirit and His mighty power. This conference is like a dream come true. My prayers have been answered.”

Testimonies of students attending School of Healing Prayer Level III in September:

- ◆ “I fractured my pelvis several weeks ago in a bicycle accident. While here at CHM I have been allowed to express my grief over it, and there has been tremendous release. Through prayer, the Lord has realigned my back (out of place since the impact of the accident), and I have had no pain in it since then. I have much less pain and stiffness in my knees and hip as well. I felt the Lord touching specifically the fracture in the back of my pelvis, and have had no pain there since then. I can almost walk without crutches! From my time at these three schools (SHP I, II, and III), I am feeling more than ever before like the person God created me to be. This place has been so instrumental in calling me out and for Him.”

- ◆ “I have experienced increasing pain and stiffness in arthritic joints during recent years. This is generational and has a history of growing more severe as time progresses. Tuesday night, my group prayed for my condition and for inner healing, as well. I woke up the next morning with no pain and no stiffness in any joint. Today — no pain, no stiffness. Tomorrow — I’m believing for no pain, no stiffness!”
- ◆ “For three years before going to CHM, I had been on sleeping pills. This is the fifth day, since returning home, I have awakened from a good night’s sleep without a sleeping pill and without fighting demons. I want to praise God our Father, who has delivered me. Thanks for your prayers. It has taken a while for me to believe the scripture I received: ‘In peace they will both lie down and sleep, for You alone make them to dwell in safety.’ How merciful our Lord is to those who love Him.”

Testimonies of those who have come to CHM for prayer:

- ◆ “Thanks for healing at Day of Healing Prayer in July!”
- ◆ “Seven years ago my son and I went to a Day of Healing Prayer for Zachary to be healed of asthma. It has been seven years now, and Zack has not had one single attack since his healing! He is an athlete and plays college football. God is truly a wonderful Father who cares. Thank you for such a precious ministry.”
- ◆ “I visited CHM and was set free from anxiety and some addictions.”
- ◆ “Depression, which I suffered from for quite some time, is gone! I am really grateful to the Lord for this. I’m also grateful to the MacNutt’s, because sometimes their teachings and testimonies of healing were all I had to hold onto — even while living in the midst of Christians. It was amazing how difficult it was for other Christians to believe I could and would get better. I really had to hang onto God like a dog on a bone, but here I am — not a trace of the old pain. I want to express my gratitude. Thanks for getting this teaching out. So many of us need the hope that Jesus Christ’s power is real and so is His love.”
- ◆ “I heard great things about this place before coming here. I have received deliverance that I can’t explain. I didn’t know I was as sad about my father as I apparently was. Other things I will have to think about and ponder in my heart.”
- ◆ “Before coming here I felt defeated and had overwhelming, self-destructive images — the opposite of coming here and going through the experience of acceptance and love. The absolute hopelessness I felt has been put away from me during these three days of intensive prayer. The forgiveness, the being restored, is very powerful and something I needed.”
- ◆ “I am a pastor, and over the years I have felt that things were hanging onto me. The prayer ministers prayed into some things I told them about, and some I did not ask for but that they saw in the Spirit. For the last few months I had felt a little bit as though I was covered with fly paper — everything sticking to me. I had a feeling of utter despair, hopelessness, as though my whole being was going to collapse. Now, I feel great! I encourage everyone to ask for prayer when they need it.”

Why are you downcast, O my soul? Why so disturbed within me?

Put your hope in God, for I will yet praise him, my Savior and my God (Psalm 42:5).

by Francis MacNutt

In the 1960's and '70's, when Dr. MacNutt first witnessed being "slain in the Spirit," he did not know what to think. Then, it started happening in his own healing ministry. Through extensive research, he learned that this phenomenon was not new at all; it had occurred throughout Church history. With Biblically informed wisdom and sensitivity, Dr. MacNutt tackles every conceivable question and concern about this controversial issue, including: Isn't it just the power of suggestion? What are the spiritual benefits, if any? How good can something be that causes division and controversy?

The Healing Reawakening

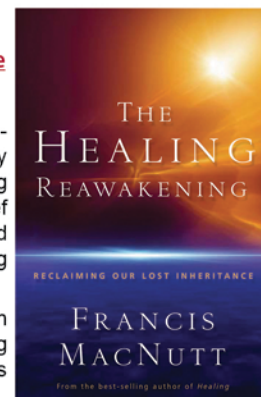

Previously titled The Nearly Perfect Crime

by Francis MacNutt

Although the main method leading to the conversion of the Roman Empire during the early years of Christianity lay in dramatically healing the sick and casting out evil spirits, the belief in supernatural healing nearly disappeared from mainline churches during the following centuries.

How did something so central to Jesus' own heart, something so essential to the spreading of the Gospel, nearly disappear? Join Francis as he explores this fascinating question.
